intention

Within the framework of the EU Programme for Lifelong Learning, the intention of this project is to enable LIS students to gain the theoretical and practical skills for necessary, logistical, technological, classification, construction, and security solutions.

Marketing, managing and designing processes are parts of the project discussions, workshops and excursions, as well as are specific issues like the use of RFID technology, barrier-free accessibility and e-publishing schemes.

benefit

The intention of this project is to support efficient and multi-national professional training. It enhances the international co-operation among institutions in the areas of teaching, research and practical experience.
